Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery

Are you prepared for a hard drive failure? Server failure? Or worse?
If not, the damage to your business can be painful and costly from...

- Lost data due to a crashed disk, hacked server, or network intruder
- The time and resources to recreate a corrupt or missing database
- A commercial power outage that disrupts your systems and networks
- A local weather emergency that shuts down access to your building
- A fire or flood that takes out every computer in your office
- Damage to reputation, competitiveness, and customer confidence

Benefits of Disaster Planning

- Identifies risks, threats and exposures
- Determines risk reduction remedies and alternatives for systems and networks
- Indicates need for data protection measures, including off-site storage
- Highlights need for off-grid power sourcing
- Checks feasibility of implementing telework program for off-site emergency work
- Addresses legal exposure, regulatory compliance problems, and PR nightmares

How We Work
